CEREBRAL PALSY OF COLORADO TO HONOR JACQUI BLUE AT MOTHER'S TEA
Mother of Josh Blue winner of NBC's reality series Last Comic Standing

DENVER, CO - Cerebral Palsy of Colorado is gearing up for the 6th Annual Mother's Tea. This event celebrates the contribution, sacrifice, and commitment mothers make in the lives of their special needs child on a daily basis. The day will include honoring Mrs. Jacqui Blue, the Mother of well-known comedian Josh Blue. Judy Ham President of Cerebral Palsy of Colorado states, "Mr. Blue is a shining example of how a person can excel regardless of what challenges he or she may face. What makes the difference is the support they receive. Motherhood takes commitment, whether a child has special needs or not. Now imagine if you will, a child that needs physical, occupational and/or speech and language therapies. The extra time it takes to get these children prepared for life is extensive. It takes much dedication and that is what Mother's Tea is about".

This Mother's Tea Celebration will be May 12, 2007 at the Westin, Tabor Center. The festivities begin with a Champagne reception, followed by a luncheon with Mistress of Ceremonies, Dr. Stephanie Clements of 9News. Mrs. Blue will share stories and fond memories of son Josh growing up. A heartwarming fashion show featuring Reggio Imports and Splash Funwear, which includes staff, friends and children of CP of CO, adds a special touch to the day. To recognize the commitment and sacrifice mothers make in the lives of their children, pamper packages are given to six very deserving mothers. The pamper packages provide a break in the hectic life of these extraordinary women by allowing for spa treatments, fine dining, over night accommodations and entertainment at venues throughout downtown Denver.

If you would like to be a sponsor, or would like to purchase a table or individual tickets to this joyous celebration please visit www.cpc.org or call 303-691-9339 ext. 32. If you would like to nominate a mother of a special needs child for one of the pamper packages, please do so by visiting www.cpc.org and click on the Mother's Tea link under Special Events and complete the online nomination form.
